

BOARDS OF REVIEW

VIDEOCONFERENCING

The board of review, like most aspects of Scouting, works best in person. But what if you can't meet face-to-face?

Your unit has no doubt been impacted by the recent outbreak of the coronavirus (COVID-19). While your unit meetings are most likely canceled, consider videoconferencing as a simple solution!

COUNCIL GUIDELINES

- Video Conferencing is approved by SFTC for all Boards of Review (including Eagle)
- A video conference must follow all guidelines outlined in the BSA's Guide to Advancement.
- Test all equipment prior to the conference.
- Make sure everyone is visible - including all members of the board of review, the Scout and any observers with the Scout.
- A parent or guardian or two registered adult leaders must be present at the beginning of the conference.
- Once the review process has been concluded, a parent or guardian, or two registered adult leaders, must rejoin the Scout.
- Video conference boards of review must not be recorded.
- FREE Videoconference platforms include Google Hangouts, Zoom, Skype
